Knoist and his Three Sons Written by the Grimm Brothers Adapted by Henryzilla

Between Werrel and Soist there lived a man whose name was Knoist, and he had three sons.

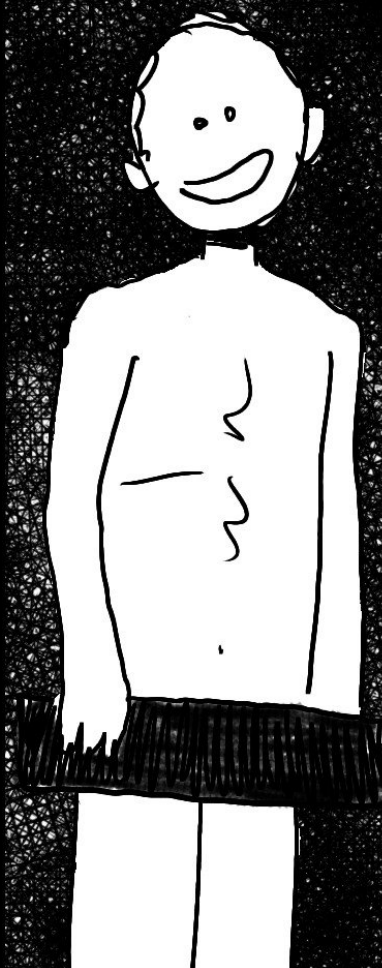

One was blind.

The other was lame

The third was nude

Once upon a time...
they ran into a field

...and they saw a hare.

The blind
one shot it

The lame one caught it.
And the naked one put it in his pocket.

They came upon a mighty big lake,
for which they found three boats.

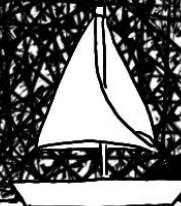

One sailed

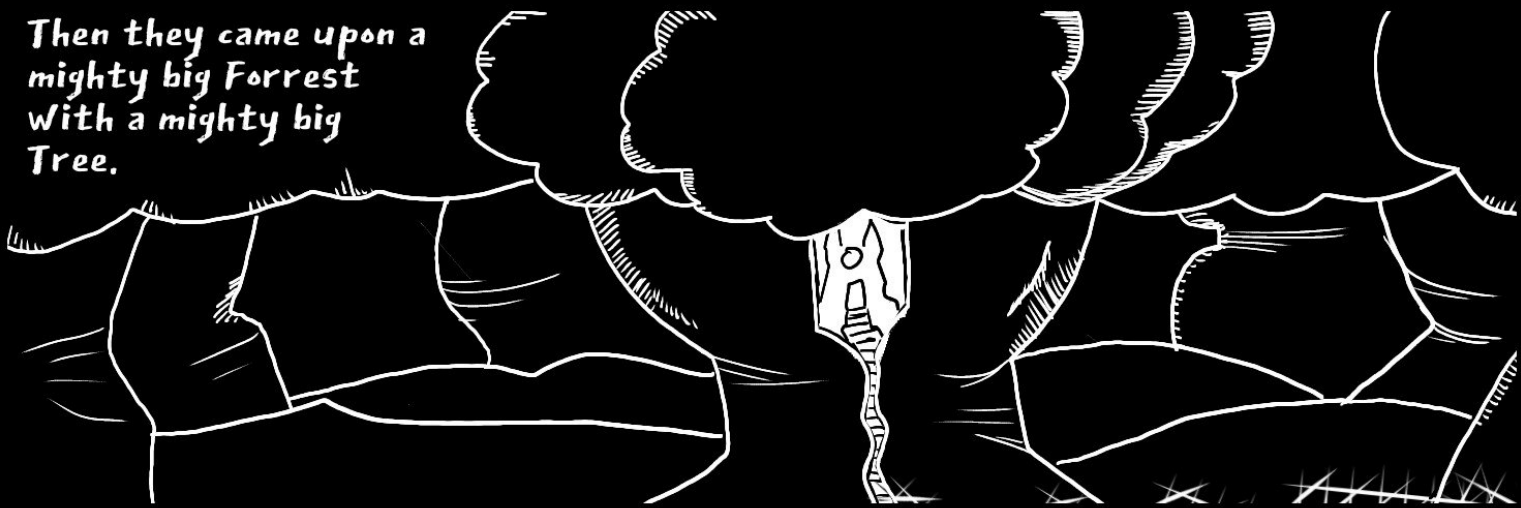

One sank

One has no bottom. They all got into the one with no bottom.

Then they came upon a mighty big Forrest with a mighty big Tree.

In the tree was a mighty big Chapel

In the chapel was a Sexton made of beech-wood and box-wood parson

Who dealt out holy water with cudgels.

How truly happy that ONE is Whom can from holy water reign.
